OUR HEROES

Evening Express

The Press and Journal and Evening Express are joining forces to celebrate some of the special people who have made such a big difference during the Covid-19 pandemic over the last year.

We are inviting people of all ages in the North of Scotland to use their creativity to draw pictures of their lockdown heroes. You may want to draw some of the brave frontline workers such as doctors, nurses, shop workers, refuse collectors, carers and so many more. Maybe you'll use your drawing to highlight a neighbour or a family member who helped you or others. The choice of who to draw is up to you!

You can find an entry pack at the link below or feel free to design your entry from scratch! Once you are happy with your drawing, simply submit it using the form on the same webpage.

We will feature all the entries in special supplements and online galleries starting on Monday March 22, one year removed from the start of the first lockdown.

The deadline for entries is Saturday March 6 at 8pm.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Entrants must register by Saturday March 6 at 8pm. Entry to this campaign is by online form only. Any invalid or inappropriate images will not be processed. By entering you agree to all our terms and conditions. Maximum two entries per person. Drawing explanations are welcomed, but space may dictate their inclusion during publication. The editor's decision is final. Any entrants below the age of 18 must have their submission completed by a parent or guardian. Your personal information will not be retained beyond the campaign period as per our Privacy Policy.
